

Shop in the Garden & Garden Centre October Update

Just because the cold is here doesn't mean your house can't look like spring!

We adore plants, and as winter approaches we still like to have them around us. That's why we've just put new, gorgeous indoor plants up for sale, which are easy to take care of, stunning to look at, and guarantee that your interiors are full of character this fall.

Our new air plants (see above) are so low maintenance they don't even require soil to grow, instead obtaining the nutrients they need from the air. They can be mounted onto a variety of vertical surfaces or grown in a hanging globe. A great modern decorative element that also works perfectly as a gift!

Our beautiful orchids (see below) come in both large and small sizes. Featuring a variety of shades, from delicate lilac to attention-grabbing fuchsia, the flowers are the perfect burst of colour for any interior space. We also have new dried flower arrangements for a more understated touch, perfect as dining table centrepieces.

Other additions to our store include new fall attire, such as hand-crafted woolly hats with bright designs and solid colour hats with a sophisticated edge, and our new 2017 calendar that comes replete with gorgeous artwork; a fashionable way to start planning for the new year.

As usual, you can find our selection of gardening tools, First Nations art, tableware, and many other decorative items at the Shop.
