May 2020 in the Neighbourhood

Many of the plants featured in April 2020 in the Neighbourhood are still in bloom. Check them out through May in the Neighbourhood.

Stay cheerful reminder of the beauty that is all around us. Although I may not have realized this before, these days my attention has been slowing down even more on my daily neighbourhood walks. There isn’t much to celebrate about in these isolating times, but the new sights and fragrances of spring’s bounty is at least a cheerful reminder of the beauty that is all around us.

May 2020 in the Neighbourhood

Stay cheerful reminder of the beauty that is all around us. Although I may not have realized this before, these days my attention has been slowing down even more on my daily neighbourhood walks. There isn’t much to celebrate about in these isolating times, but the new sights and fragrances of spring’s bounty is at least a cheerful reminder of the beauty that is all around us.

Stay cheerful reminder of the beauty that is all around us. Although I may not have realized this before, these days my attention has been slowing down even more on my daily neighbourhood walks. There isn’t much to celebrate about in these isolating times, but the new sights and fragrances of spring’s bounty is at least a cheerful reminder of the beauty that is all around us.