

Meet the Apple Tree Growers at the 2024 Apple Festival

Lisa Blair

At Buds'n Petals, Lisa grafts apple trees and a variety of other plants. Custom grafting services are also available. From January to March, several varieties of pussy willows are for sale. Lisa collects and sells over fifty types of seeds. Since propagation is her passion, rooted cuttings are also available for purchase.

Contact details below:

Email: budsnpetalslangley@gmail.com

Number: 778-899-1522

Kate Janeway

Denman Island Heritage Apple Trees is a small tree fruit nursery that specializes in propagating traditional apple trees on 5 acres of land on Denman Island. Kate is passionate about preserving heritage varieties of apples and their unique cultural significance. She operates a nursery that specializes in organically grown heritage apples and pears, offering nearly 200 varieties for eating, cider, juice, baking, and more. Trees can be purchased through the website.

Contact details below:

Email: kate@denmanapple.ca

Justin Student

Justin is the dedicated owner and operator of Bee Haven Farm, a hobby farm and nursery nestled in Lund, BC. At Bee Haven Farm, he specializes in grafting apple trees and other fruit varieties, using a regenerative farming approach that prioritizes sustainability and ecological balance. His passion for nurturing diverse fruit trees contributes to a thriving food forest, reflecting his commitment to both innovative agriculture and environmental stewardship. Contact Justin for custom orders and choose from over 200 cultivars, including many cider-specific apple varieties.

Contact details below:

Email: Justin@beehavenfarm.ca

Marcel Sachse

Marcel, together with his wife Nadja, operates a market garden, Pinsch of Soil, in South Langley, creating an edible landscape that includes fruit trees and native plants.

Contact details below:

Email: marcelsachse82@gmail.com